Sacrifice / Ritual Stroke

Double-Edged Knife (which can wound or heal)

Separation / Knife Edge (which separates opposite forces)

Shattering of the Whole / sudden change or destruction consciousness of suffering that can be transcended but not suppressed in the physical world

Healer (whose knife cuts away the diseased part) / Healing (as cutting away from the source of sickness)

Hall of Mirror (where reflection can be faced and illusion or truth be seen)

Truth / truth beyond polarities (where opposites merge and paradox ceases to exist), truth beyond the mirrored illusions of duality & multiplicity

Clear Mirror vs Clouded Mirror

Self-Reflection (looking within to reveal the truth of one's being) / clear light of self-observation / facing shadow

Ritual Pattern of No-Time / Timelessness / Still Time

Lightning Axe / Flash Point [see also CHIKCHAN, KAWAK] / Cold Flame of the Eternal Now

MANIFESTATION

sharp blades, e.g. knife, sword, spear, scalpel, ...

truth vs illusion / clarity vs distortion / reflection wounding vs healing

reflected light separation / creation of divide quarrel, fight, strife, war pain, hurt, suffering

anger & rage

dissonance or discordance undergoing tests & trials divisiveness, e.g. of yes vs no division into the duality of right & wrong / painful awareness of opposites vs integration of paradox / duality brought into focus moral consciousness vs degeneration of morals striking a balance between two extremes coordination & symmetry discrimination / clarity / pertinence of facts illusions exposed / hard truths / awareness of distortions outside world (people & situations) acting as mirror for oneself diffusion of truth vs lies & disinformation / constructive vs destructive criticism decisiveness vs indecision / choice / orientation seizing the moment and taking action / importance of correct timing sudden events stemming from need for change self-centeredness vs self-sacrifice [see also KIMI, EB, MEN] seeking to re-establish the original unity surgical procedure

quest for truth

timeless truths

SHADOW

separation-related issues (manifesting as fear, leading to judgment, ...)

vanity & ego-related issues judgment of imperfections denial (maintaining of illusions) / avoidance in facing the truth holding onto a fixed position that keep situations from changing [see also BEN] / being convinced that only oneself is right manipulation by force double bind situation (being stuck in a repetitive cycle of some kind, like a bouncing reflection on opposite mirrors) being caught in the maze of the mind and of mental illusions narcissism

identification & projection / self-absorption (leading to using people & situations strictly as mirrors) overcharged reactions, overreactiveness
